

The General Demand

of the Well-Informed of the World has always been for a simple, pleasant and efficient liquid laxative remedy of known value; a laxative which physicians could sanction for family use because its component parts are known to them to be wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, acceptable to the system and gentle, yet prompt, in action.

In supplying that demand with its excellent combination of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the California Fig Syrup Co. proceeds along ethical lines and relies on the merits of the laxative for its remarkable success.

That is one of many reasons why Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is given the preference by the Well-Informed. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Price fifty cents per bottle.

MUCH OF VALUE AT CONFERENCE

Forester Hosmer Reports on His Recent Trip East—Brings Back Fresh Ideas.

R. S. Hosmer, Territorial Superintendent of Forestry, yesterday presented a report to the Board of Agriculture and Forestry concerning his trip to Washington with Governor Frear to be present at the Congress of Governors. Mr. Hosmer reported: "By invitation of Governor Frear, it was my privilege to attend the Conference on Natural Resources at Washington in May, as one of the three delegates from Hawaii. Leaving Honolulu on April 22, I arrived in Washington some days before the opening of the conference. This allowed time for a visit to Philadelphia, where Mr. Gartley and I had an interview with Professor John W. Gilmore of Pennsylvania State College, to whom we tendered the position of president of the College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts of this Territory. As you know, Professor Gilmore accepted this position, and within a short time will be on the ground.

"The Conference on Natural Resources was held at the White House from May 13 to 15, and was a very notable gathering. It is unnecessary here elaborately to discuss the meeting or to give abstracts of what was said. The full report given in the June issue of Forestry and Irrigation has already been widely distributed throughout this Territory. Enough to say that it was a meeting which will be far-reaching in results.

"Perhaps the most impressive feature of the conference was the harmony of opinion in regard to the need and importance of a more rational use of the natural wealth of the nation, and the broad, non-sectional spirit that animated all the speakers. This truly national note was indeed the dominant characteristic of the conference; it argues well for the future.

"There is no question but that the Conference on Natural Resources will be the starting point of a number of movements having more or less definitely to do with the conservation of forests and minerals, as well as the systematic development of our inland waterways. The date of the meeting is one that will long be remembered as significant in the history of the nation.

"The value of such a conference is by no means confined to the papers to which one listens. Fully as much is gained by meeting workers in one's own profession and discussing with them technical problems. Especially is this true of a station like Hawaii, where, from the nature of things, one is more or less cut off from professional association. In attendance at the Conference of Natural Resources were several of the State Foresters. From talks with these men and with officials of the United States Forest Service I bring back fresh ideas and information of value to my work here. After leaving Washington it was my good fortune to see and talk with other men engaged in forest work at Trenton, New Jersey; New York, New Haven, Boston, and San Francisco.

"While in Washington I also made it a point to see various officials of other bureaus of the United States Department of Agriculture, and of the Geological Survey, bringing to their personal attention certain needs of the Territory. I returned to Honolulu on July 6; since then I have been occupied in getting in touch with the current happenings in forest work and with the routine duties of the office."

A. K. VIERRA ON SIDEWALK MEETING

Honolulu, July 14, 1908.

Editor Advertiser.—In the interest of fair play, permit me a little space in your valuable columns in expressing my views relative to the letter of A. D. Bolster in this morning's Advertiser. Judging from the statements made by him he either is short-sighted or can not read English intelligently, for Chinese K. of P. hall on "Vineyard street," as you will note in your "Local and General" column of today, is not on "Kukui street," where he went groping his way in the darkness.

On the night of nominations, feeling that there were some stray voters down on Kukui street, I personally walked down to the old voting place and waited there a little while, but as I did not see a soul I went back to the K. of P. hall on Vineyard street, and it was then that I called the meeting to order, the time being 8:10 p. m. I did what in my estimation was right and just by my fellow voters of the precinct, and I wish to assure you that I would not be connected with any such scheme as Mr. Bolster wishes to make you believe.

On the night in question the said K.

of P. hall was not available, so the meeting was conducted directly in front of the building on the street, where anyone passing could not help bumping into it.

On account of not "fooling the voters" of the precinct and Mr. Bolster any more, the voting for precinct officers will take place again at the same place on the street directly in front of the Chinese K. of P. hall (N. B.), Vineyard street.

Fully trusting Mr. Bolster and all the good Republicans will be there to vote for good men, I beg to remain, Gratefully yours,

A. K. VIERRA.

MORE TROOPS FOR FORT SHAFTER--MAYBE

The War Department has received the resolution of the Chamber of Commerce relative to the request to enlarge the force of soldiers at Fort Shafter, and in the following letter from the Adjutant General's office, War Department, to the Chamber, states that "due weight" will be given the subject. The letter is dated June 30, and came to H. P. Wood. It says:

"Washington, June 30, 1908.

"Sir: Referring to your letter of June 12, 1908, addressed to the President and Secretary of War, in which you inclosed duly attested copies of a resolution passed by the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce, relative to increasing the strength of the companies now stationed at Camp Shafter, and a clipping on the subject from the Pacific Commercial Advertiser for June 11, 1908, I am directed by the Secretary of War to inform you that the War Department is fully alive to the inadequacy of the small garrison now maintained in the Islands, and, in connection with the general subject, will give due weight to the resolution of the Chamber of Commerce of Honolulu.

"Very respectfully,
HENRY P. MC CAIN,
Adj.-General."

LAHAINA HOLDS ROYAL HOOKUPU

Passengers arriving on the Claudine from windward ports yesterday say the people at Lahaina were greatly exercised over the report that the fleet was not to go to that port. Preparations had been made for a grand hookupu and the people did not want to be deprived of the pleasure of showing Uncle Sam's boys that the hearts of the people of Maui were in the right place.

E. E. Richards, manager of the Hilo Telephone Company, and his son Ralph were passengers on the Claudine arriving at Lahaina late last night. He says word was received by the wireless operator at Lahaina direct from the fleet that the ships would be at Lahaina for coal. With this message came the loosening of the tension and the people went to work with renewed activity. The wharf at the old capital is crowded with good things and the cargo of the Claudine added the following which had been shipped from three ports. As much more would go from other places:

Two hundred and fifty-eight crates pineapples, 47 sacks and 493 loose watermelons, 341 bunches bananas, 9 boxes grapes, 13 sacks fruit and vegetables, 18 boxes chickens, 2 sacks potatoes. The crates of pines contain several thousand fruits.

"DICK TURPIN" WAS ONCE SMITH'S NAME

Private Stephen Smith, 20th U. S. Infantry, deserter, "pirate," and guardhouse breaker, is a sort of Jekyll-Hyde person. The police discovered that at one time he bore the name of one of the most notorious outlaws of English stage coach day, and yet during the time he masqueraded under that name, his record was all that Uncle Sam might expect of its boys in khaki. But when he changed back to the name of Smith, he began a career which should have been accredited to the former name.

In short, Private Smith served Uncle Sam once before as a soldier in the 29th Infantry, down in the Philippines, but under the distinguished patronym of Richard Turpin. He carries discharge papers under this alias, and letters of recommendation from Captain Morrow, Captain Hahn and others testify to the good character of "Richard Turpin."

Smith, with Duesenberry, his companion in desertion, piracy and loot, is likely to get about five years imprisonment in Alcatraz prison.
